American Note Of Protest Is Leading Topic

Of Consideration In England Ament the War and Sir Edward Grey, Having Returned from a Holiday Vacation, Is Expected to Give It Immediate Attention as It Is Subject of Press Comment In England

ALLIES' ADVANCE SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN CHECKED

And Berlin Declares This to Mean Failure—Even Some of the British Newspapers Call Attention to the Fact That the Movement Has Lost Much of Its Vigor—Russian Armies Are Holding Germans in Check and Are Pressing Their Advantage, While They Have Flung the Austrians Back Over the Carpathians.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Dec. 30.—The soldiers of Emperor Nicholas still hold the main German armies in check and continue to press their advantage according to dispatches reaching London.
At the same time they are harassing the Austrians who have been flung back over the Carpathian mountains.
In the western arena of the war the allies continue to claim slow progress but the offensive, started about the middle of December has notably slackened, a fact which Berlin, accepting the order issued by General Joffre, the French commander in chief, on December 17, as bonafide, declares means the failure of the attempted ally advance.
Even some of the British newspapers call attention to the marked decrease in the vigor of the French, British and Belgian thrusts at the German line but they add that the reason for this quiet soon will be disclosed.

The Rura river, to the west of Warsaw, has now become the Yser of the east; on its banks the Germans have sacrificed thousands of men as they did in Belgium on the Yser. The crossing which they forced at great cost has now been nullified, according to dispatches from Petrograd, the Russians having driven the invaders back to the west bank of the river.

The American note of protest concerning interference with American shipping and commerce is the subject of the leading editorial articles in virtually all of the London newspapers, and it continues to attract much attention in the diplomatic field. Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey returned to London today after a Christmas week end, and it is expected that he will give the matter immediate consideration.

The press unanimously calls attention to the friendliness of the note, in spite of its firmness, and expresses the belief that ground for an understanding with the United States will be reached.

Foreign Secretary Grey returned to London from the country today. His coming was followed in the afternoon by a meeting of the cabinet at which before a full muster of His Majesty's ministers there was discussed the protest of the United States government, concerning the existing restrictions on American commerce.

The note of the American government has only just reached the British government and it is likely to occupy the attention of the ministry for a considerable time. In the meanwhile it is understood that Walter H. Paige, the American ambassador will be invited to go over the entire question with foreign Secretary Grey.

The Washington communication to the British government holds the first place not only in the news and editorial columns of the newspapers but wherever the war and its attendant ramifications are discussed. It is contended everywhere that mutual good will surely bridge this difficulty and obviate further irritation.

"We have no right to feel aggrieved because of the American endeavors to mitigate the losses which the war inflicts on the merchants and manufacturers of that country," says the Westminster Gazette. This newspaper, more than any other, reflects the views of the government. It contends that it is to the interests of neutrals as well as belligerents to shorten the war and that therefore neutrals should submit to any reasonable restrictions which are likely to have this effect.

"Why doesn't the United States address its remonstrance to Germany and Austria instead of Great Britain, and asks the Westminster Gazette, and answers its own question by explaining that command of the sea permits France and Great Britain alone to exercise the right of searching and detaining neutral ships.

Stating that the right of search is conceded in the American note the Westminster Gazette admits that this right should be exercised, with all possible regard to the convenience of neutrals.
It suggests that it would be well for the British government to supply daily to the American ambassador a list of the ships stopped with a statement of the reasons therefor, so that questions arising in this connection might be adjusted at once. Similar information might be given to American newspaper correspondents in London. The Westminster Gazette says it feels sure that instructions will be given to avoid detention of ships on mere suspicion, and that if such searches as can be conducted at sea fail to reveal good ground for forcible detention such action will not be resorted to. To prevent Great Britain from checking shipment of copper to Germany would in effect be American intervention on the side of Germany, this newspaper contends. It absolves Washington from any such intention and points out that if the difficulties are faced in a spirit of fairness and two governments by friendly agreement will be able to ease the situation for each other.

A plea for natural good will is made by the Pall Mall Gazette which urges "that between two English-speaking nations so accustomed to frank discussion and plain dealing, there is no necessity for irritation over any apparent brusquerie in the message."

FINAL DRAFT OF NAVAL BILL WILL BE MADE THURSDAY.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Dec. 30.—The House naval sub-committee was under call today to meet tomorrow to finally pass upon the preliminary draft of the naval appropriation bill.

The measure is featured by providing $1,000,000 for aviation development and closely follows the estimates of the navy department, including $2,752,535 for ammunition for ships of the navy; $1,000,000 for torpedoes; $1,000,000 for purchase and manufacture of smokeless powder.

First Photograph of British Troops Firing Big Guns In Trenches

This photograph vividly illustrates the activities of war in the winter time in the east of France. Here are shown British gunners in the act of firing from breastworks on the German trenches miles away. These large guns are hidden as well as possible behind brush or in forests where the enemy cannot see them through glasses nor make them out from the smoke which arises after a shot.

Associated Charities Organized, Board of Managers Designated And Working Constitution Adopted

At a mass meeting of all organizations interested in charity work held Tuesday afternoon in the council chamber in the city building, a central body to be known as the Newark Associated Charities was organized, a constitution adopted and a board of managers elected. Thirty-six lodges, societies and churches sent accredited representatives with full power to act. When the meeting was ended, it was apparent that there will be hearty cooperation on the part of every organization represented, though at first there was some dissension, due to the fact that the impression was held by some of the organizations represented, that all the work was to be done by the united body, instead of this body acting as a clearinghouse for relief work. When this feature of the work was thoroughly explained and the sentiments of those dissenting was expressed, it developed that there would be no friction after the final organization was effected and the bylaws which will define the duties of the general body are drawn up.

Mayor R. C. Bigbee presided at the meeting. F. L. Johnson was chosen temporary secretary. W. M. Morgan, member of the committee appointed two weeks ago to notify all organizations of the proposed meeting, offered for adoption, a constitution prepared by the committee. This constitution was practically the same as that which governs the same sort of an organization in Columbus, revised to fit local conditions. The committee explained that it had no desire to force the adoption of this document, but that the members realized that it was important to get quick action and that it would have required several days to prepare such a document. The constitution was adopted by a unanimous vote.

REV. L. P. FRANKLIN GIVES EXPLANATION OF THE PLAN OF WORK.

In the federated or associated charities which has been organized in this city, it must be clearly understood that no organization doing charitable work will be asked or expected to merge itself with it. If we call it a co-operative charity, the idea may become clearer. Each organization will be expected to help only insofar as it is able in a financial way. But it will be asked to co-ordinate its charity work with all other charitable organizations in the city, and co-operate with them through the central office.

Messrs. W. C. Miller, F. L. Johnson and Rev. L. P. Franklin were appointed a committee to prepare a list of 22 names from which a board of managers of eleven persons could be selected. Out of this list the following persons were named as members of the board of managers: W. M. Morgan, Mrs. W. D. Fulton, A. H. Heisey, Henry S. Fleck, John J. Carroll, E. C. Wright, C. W. Montgomery, Wilson Hawkins and W. W. Wehrle.

This board will draft the bylaws governing the organization, elect officers and select the secretary or superintendent who will be the organization's agent in the investigation of applications for relief. This does not mean that all relief will be extended through the associated charities. The individual bodies will continue to do the same work that is now being done but by a system of records kept by the general body, these organizations will be able to learn whether those who seek help, are also receiving aid from some other source.

Mac Mossman, speaking for the township trustees, declared that that board would co-operate in every way possible with the associated body. He

French Report Driving Back German Forces

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, Dec. 30.—France claims slight gains near Neupont in the official announcement given out by the war department this afternoon. This communication also mentions other points along the line where German attacks have been driven back. There has been heavy fighting at St. Georges, in the Alsace region, and on the heights of the Meuse. The text of the communication follows:
"In Belgium we have won a little territory in the region of Neupont, opposite Polders, and to the north of Lombardzede. The enemy has been driven back to a violent bombardment. This is the position we are putting in a state of defense."
"We have captured a German point of support located in the south-east of Zonnebeke on the road between Boppe and Pachte. The enemy has been driven back to a violent bombardment. This is the position we are putting in a state of defense."

"From the Las to the Oise there is nothing to report."
"In the valley of the Aisne and Champagne the enemy has manifested another burst of activity which has taken the form particularly of a

States Rights Lame Argument Favoring Booze

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Topeka, Kas., Dec. 29.—State rights is one of the latest arguments that could be offered in opposition to national prohibition according to Governor Hodges of Kansas, who spoke before the national convention of the intercollegiate prohibition association here today. The proposition that national prohibition is contrary to the letter and spirit of our government sounds like the slavery arguments years ago, he said. "Human rights and the welfare of humanity must be given preference in settling all moral questions. States rights was the only excuse offered against giving the negroes their freedom," he concluded.

New York, Dec. 30.—The mayor's committee on relief is today considering a plan proposed by Charles Commis over kindness to furnish meals and two nights lodging for eight hours a week on city streets and bridges, as well as on other public places, to the homeless and unemployed. Enthusiasm Is Manifested for City's Welfare

Attendance of Representative Men Anxious for a Forward Civic Movement, Was Far Ahead of Expectations, at the Masonic Temple Over Three Hundred Being Present, and All Were Imbued With Spirit of "Get Together"

HON. A. T. SEYMOUR AND DR. C. L. WILLIAMS SPOKE

The Addresses Were Received With Rapt Attention, Which Presaged An Earnest Conviction On the Part of the Hearers That the Time is at Hand to Lay Aside Every Ulterior Motive, All Differences of Opinion As to Details of Method and Co-operate Toward the One and Only Object, Newark's Betterment.

The largest meeting ever held by the Board of Trade membership was that Tuesday night when the "get-together" banquet was held in the new Masonic Temple, Fourth and Church streets. More than 300 business and professional men of Newark were present. The banquet tables, spread in the ball room of the new building, were inadequate to accommodate all those who attended, and, unfortunately, the food supply was exhausted before the entire assemblage had been served and there was a few minutes delay while the city restaurants were raided to replenish the exhausted larders.

Besides the good things to eat there was a rare treat in store for the 300 men when Attorney Carl Norpell, new president of the Board of Trade took charge of the meeting as toastmaster and introduced the speakers, Augustus T. Seymour, President of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. C. L. Williams, of Denison University. Both addresses were given with the spontaneous applause which greeted the speakers, indicated that they had struck a sympathetic chord in the minds of the business men assembled.

It was the first glimpse some of the Newark people had of the interior of the new Masonic Temple. The ball room is the only part which has been completed and all were pleased with the beauty of this room. The guests at the banquet, began assembling before 6 o'clock and soon after that hour the large gathering was seated at the tables. It was necessary for the committee in charge to call for volunteer helpers to assist in the service, because the attendance was so much larger than was anticipated.

The menu was excellent and the portions served were more than enough even for the individual with a large appetite. During the course of the dinner, an orchestra rendered a splendid program which included "Tippin'" which was received with an outburst of applause. The orchestra was composed of members of the Musicians Local Union and were:

Joseph Hupp, piano; Donald Kilsane, violin; Fred Abbott, cornet; Otis Riggs, trombone; M. J. Snyder, flute, and Oscar Lampton, drums.
When chairs and coffee had been served, Chairman Norpell, acting as toastmaster, introduced Augustus T. Seymour of Columbus, as a former Newark man. Mr. Norpell congratulated the committee on the success of their plans, and presented the speaker.

Mr. Seymour expressed his pleasure in having the opportunity to address such a gathering, which represented the business and industrial life of his former home town.
He said that he had attended many luncheons and meetings of this character in Columbus but declared that Columbus never had a meeting of the members of its Chamber of Commerce sixty percent as large as the Tuesday night gathering.

"I know what kind of men are present," he said. "When you get a board of trade together, you have skimmed the cream off the top. The flower of Newark business men and manhood generally is here. A few may have been kept away, but seated here are men Newark has depended upon in the past and must depend upon in the future to set the standard of business activity."

Mr. Seymour said that he had spent some of the happiest and some of the saddest days of his life in Newark. He paid a beautiful tribute to his wife, a former Newark woman. He said that there was no prettier spot in the world than that which surrounded Newark, and that no better place could be found for a home. He declared his intention of returning to Newark some day to make his home, and expressed the hope that when his mission on earth was ended, that he might rest in the cemetery here, beside his parents, already gone before.

"But I want to talk to you tonight about what a Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade can do for Newark," he said.
"Why should the best men of Newark get together. What good does it do to unite the influence, the enthusiasm, the time and the strength of men, women and children, of different tastes and political affiliations and of conflicting interests?"

"Every resident of Newark wants to make Newark a better place in which to live, a better place in which to earn a living. If you are all dominated by that idea, why should you not meet together and stay together? No individual working alone can do much. We all need organization, through which to unite our efforts. A commercial organization like the Board of Trade simply offers opportunities for service for the city. It can not give you anything better than an opportunity for intelligent co-operation with your neighbors and fellow citizens for the good of the city."
"If any man wishes this city harm, he can have no place in such an organization. If he wishes it good, HE CAN NOT AFFORD TO BE OUT OF IT. Every citizen in Newark HAS AN INDIVIDUAL AND PERSONAL INTEREST IN THE EXISTENCE OF SUCH AN ORGANIZATION. If it should be blotted out—Newark should have no Board of Trade every man, woman and child in the community would suffer directly or indirectly a distinct loss. Such an organization is an instrument through which to enlist public sentiment in favor of every movement for the city's good and against everything that may mean public harm. Its province primarily is to promote harmony and secure co-operation among all citizens and among other organizations."
"Public sentiment, unorganized, may flow along like a peaceful river between its banks and disturb no one. But when the river comes to the mill wheel, it begins to turn something, because its forces, power and strength are gathered and used in the organization and operation of the mill."
"We need a mill through which public sentiment can pass if it is to accomplish anything or exert any influence. We want a place to gather public sentiment of the city of Newark and Licking county and a way of expressing it at Washington, at Columbus, in the council chamber and to the school board of this city."
"A chamber of commerce or a board of trade is a clearing house of ideas. But ideas are not enough."

Certificates For Life Given Ohio Teachers

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Dec. 30.—The state board of school examiners today announced names of 420 Ohio teachers to whom life high school certificates had been granted under the new law. Training and experience were the basis for granting the certificates. Those receiving them never will be compelled to take examinations in Ohio to have authority to teach in any high schools of the state.
Only seventeen applicants were ruled out because their teaching experience was not sufficient. A total of $70 had filed applications for certificates, but 126 gave in adequate credentials. Eight failed to appear before the board.
The qualifications met by each teacher granted a life high school certificate were that each must have had a degree from a normal school, teachers' college or university which is approved by the state superintendent of public instruction, and also have had at least fifty months' experience in teaching.

Troops Leave Colorado For Home Stations

Washington, Dec. 30.—Troop L of the Twelfth United States cavalry on patrol duty in the Oak Creek district, Rout county, Colorado, since last May, was ordered today to return to its home station at Fort Meade, South Dakota. Orders for the gradual withdrawal of the other federal troops sent into Colorado to quell the mining disorders are in preparation.
The gradual withdrawal of federal troops is in accord with a plan considered at recent conferences between President Wilson, Secretary Garrison, Governor Ammons of Colorado and Governor Ammons of Colorado. At that time Governor Ammons said he would replace the regulars by state troops.
The main strength of the federal troops is in Trinidad district where Colonel Lockett has the Seventh cavalry from Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, as well as the second squadron of the Fifth cavalry from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Troops E and H of the Twelfth cavalry are at Canon City, while a machine gun platoon and troops F, G, I and K of the Twelfth cavalry are at Leadville.

HEARINGS

ON BILL TO GRANT PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE RESUMED BY COMMITTEE.

Dean C. Worcester, Former Commissioner, a Star Witness, Gives an Illustrated Lecture.

(Associated Press Telegram.) Washington, Dec. 30.—Hearings on the Jones bill to extend a greater measure of self-government to the Philippines were resumed today by the senate committee on the Philippines with Dean C. Worcester, a former commissioner of the Philippine Islands, as the star witness. The committee intends to hasten consideration of the bill with a view to reporting it favorably to the senate by the middle of January.

The committee will inquire into the recent disturbances in the Philippines and to that end Chairman Hitchcock has arranged to obtain all the information on the subject in the possession of the war department. He asserted emphatically today that the disorders would not be permitted to impede the progress of the bill.

Delivery by Mr. Worcester of an illustrated lecture on the Philippines late today had been arranged which every senator was urged to attend.

ENTHUSIASM

"If you can dream, but not make dreams your master; if you can think and not make thoughts your aim; if you can fill the fleeting moments with sixty seconds of worth of distance run. Good ideas and good impulses must be concealed into intelligent action. When any movement is inaugurated put it in charge of partisans, enthusiastic for its accomplishment.

"The ideal is maximum service through your organization, on the part of all citizens willing to serve, for the growth and development of the natural advantages of your city. The purpose is to promote its social and educational opportunities and to give them publicity, and finally to increase their DRAWING POWER upon industries and people. To have such an organization means a personal sacrifice of time, of thought and of some money. It needs support. It can not exist without members and many members. It requires the payment of dues but it needs far more the influential support of every honest, intelligent and patriotic citizen who can afford to pay dues. To pay the dues is simply TO LAY A PERSONAL SACRIFICE UPON THE ALTAR DEDICATED TO PUBLIC SERVICE. Every man in this city who can afford to vote yes or no upon the question, 'Shall Newark maintain a civic organization?' IF HE DOESN'T COME IN HE VOTES NO. If he does come in the prestige of his influence, of his name, of his money and of his enthusiasm and public spirit, go to add to the common fund that forms one of the city's best assets. Some men may not afford that sacrifice but all may join in the spirit of unselfish co-operation for the public welfare. Make its service as free and as pure from the taint of selfish domination as the water which flows from a spring. The more it is used, the more people who take advantage of its service, the greater and stronger it becomes.

"We are all bound together in interest. No one lives to himself alone. There is no such thing as an independent man. One of our greatest blessings is our dependence upon each other. We are like blades bound together in a sheaf of wheat—whatever hurts one, hurts all. Whatever helps one, helps all. More or less directly. One vicious individual harms not only himself, but all with whom he comes in contact. One man of low moral character tends to degrade the whole spirit of the community. The success of one of our manufacturers helps to make us all more prosperous. The more enterprising and efficient our retail merchants the more desirable the city becomes as a place in which to shop. The higher the character and the greater the skill of our physicians and surgeons and preachers and lawyers, the better protection they afford our lives and property and the higher the ideals they spread abroad in the community.

"It is true that we are specialists, each making a living in his own way. The pursuit of our special lines of activity tends to isolate us from each other. The more successful we may be in our particular field of endeavor, the more we need association with men of different views. The idea of uniting men of different tastes, opposite views, and conflicting interests, into an organization which shall operate as a unit requires a realization of our common interest. It requires that each shall forget himself; that each shall JOIN IN A COMMON SACRIFICE; THAT EACH SHALL ADOPT AN ANGLE OF VISION, PERHAPS ENTIRELY DIFFERENT FROM THAT DICTATED BY HIS PRIVATE INTEREST, AND THAT ALL SHALL VIEW THE PROBLEMS PRESENTED FROM A COMMON STANDPOINT—THAT OF PUBLIC WELFARE.

"Some men think that setting factories for a city is the best thing that can be done. Hotel men want conventions. Shippers want traffic service. Many of us appreciate the growing need for social service. All of us want cleaner streets, better pavements, better traffic regulations, and the enforcement of proper laws for the promotion of safety and comfort. We want ordinances enforced prohibiting the spread of vicious influences. The capitalist thinks in terms of money, the aristocrat in terms of caste. The mind of the teacher is dominated by theory; the mind of the merchant, the manufacturer, by terms of practice. WHAT WE ALL NEED IS A COMMON MELTING-POT OF OPINION.

"A commercial organization furnishes this need. It helps us to realize the objects of our common interest. To be useful it must be dominated by the sole purpose of unselfish service to the community. Its ranks must be filled by men whose sole desire is to seek therein added opportunities for such service. Its central idea must be 'added power through concerted effort. NO MODERN CITY CAN AFFORD TO EXIST WITHOUT AN EFFICIENT GENERAL CITIZENS' ORGANIZATION TO PROMOTE CO-OPERATION AND TO SECURE CONCENTRATION OF EFFORT. There are more than 2000 such organizations in American cities today.

"In April, 1906, the city of San Francisco was in ashes. Three years ago the members of its chamber of commerce met in one room and within two hours, subscribed four millions of dollars, and made the world's Panama exposition possible. And today San Francisco invites the world to be her guest. This is an achievement wrought from the ruins of this stricken city within eight years, through its commercial organization and through the spirit of co-operation and generous self-sacrifice which has dominated the citizens of that city.

"We have spent much time in recent years on the subject of conservation of our natural resources—the timber, of waterpower, of coal, of timber, of material things. At the time we were turning our attention to the conservation of the products of humane industry. What I mean is to make a day's labor count for the maximum in filling the void of human needs and at the same time to give that day's labor a maximum purchasing power of necessities and things that make for the comfort of mankind.

"America wastes enough to feed Europe. Human energy is expended recklessly. Every railroad train from Columbus to Newark is carrying the same kind of freight borne by the trains from Newark to Columbus. Laws have been passed having for their object the encouragement of competition. Men have been compelled to fight each other in the field of competition.

"The age of competition is past. We live today in the age of co-operation. The farmer has no quarrel with the laborer in the city with the merchant, or with the lawyer. He is not an enemy of his banker. The laboring man has no quarrel with his employer. The real benefactors of mankind—the true philanthropists of this age—are the men who risk their money on the hazards of legitimate industry and give their fellow man, with the power and skill to work, a chance to honestly earn pay for their labor.

"A dollar is a medium of exchange. When rightly used it marks a value given and a value received. Money working in the legitimate channels of trade, confers a blessing in contact with whom it comes in contact upon the spender, upon the wage earner and upon the wage payer. But ordinarily speaking, a dollar given in exchange for nothing received, is more deadly in its influence than a pestilence. The careless giver of charity, the receiver of alms the speculator and the irresponsible promoter who attempts to reap where no one has sown are contributors to the crimes of this age.

"Love one another. The ultimate result of this spirit of co-operation will be the enactment of laws providing for the saving of human energy and human industry. It is time we were devoting our energies to wards promoting mutual confidence and respect for each other. No man ever made a friend by pushing some one else down. No one ever lost a friend by pushing some one else up. I realize that life has its hardships, that human nature has its weakness, and that both have their seamsides. But that is no reason why you and I should turn our coats wrong side out and walk down town. Keep the best side out. Be a booster. Feel like you are a booster inside.

"Of course there are knickers. Of course there are kickers. You will find them in all organizations. Life is not worth living without them. Have faith in men with whom you come in contact. Have faith in your city, in your neighbors. Love your town. Love your neighbor, your fellow man. Why Jesus Christ, who had that very good pot more than three thousand years ago and it's just as good today as it was then.

"Congressman Voss the other day told the difference between the optimist and a pessimist. A pessimist he said, asks 'is there any milk in that pitcher?' An optimist says 'pass the cream.'

"Why not be happy? Why not enjoy life? Why not think about our blessings. God must have wanted us to be happy here. He has given us so many things to be happy with. Troubles come from misunderstandings. The best way to be happy is to increase your points of contact with your fellow man. Let the motto of the Newark Board of Trade be 'TOLERANCE IS THE GREATEST FOE TO CO-OPERATION.' Religious intolerance never did any state any good. Unfortunately a wave of religious intolerance swept over this state last fall.

"Columbus has many Jews among its business men and they are all successful too. Get them into your board of trade and the thing must be a success for they won't have anything to do with a proposition that is a failure.

"There is no room in Newark for religious intolerance or political intolerance. When this thing rises up, kill it.

"The last thing I want to say is that the best asset the Newark board of trade can have is the character of its membership. Each individual is responsible for the effect of his own membership. We are here for only a little while and have a very short time in which to work for good or ill.

"Dr. Orton, the state geologist says, 'man looks at the cliff behind him and reads the deposition of a thousand ages. You and I today are writing our part of that deposition. It is true that we will write but a short tale. But we are just entering upon a new year. That year has 365 days and every day has 24 hours. Every one of us during every waking hour of that year will have an influence upon the people with whom we come in contact.

"The merchant must meet his customers. The manufacturer and employee must come together. The lawyer must meet his client. The physician his patient. The teacher will meet with his students. Even more intimately will we be surrounded by the members of our families, our friends and our acquaintances. We are responsible for the effect of our influence on each of these individuals. Why we even owe a duty to the man about whom we do not care. Our individual influence will either help or hurt. Every man, woman and child in this community will help to raise or lower the standard of human happiness during this coming year. We must strike an average and you and I will be either above or below the line. Every man, individually, is either a community asset or a community liability.

"Abraham Lincoln once said 'I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives. I like to see a man so proud of his place that he is proud of him. Be honest, but hate no one. Overturn a man's wrong doing but do not overturn him unless it must be done in overturning the wrong. Stand with anybody that stands right. Stand with him while he is right and part with him when he goes wrong.'

"I wish you individually the happiest new year, the greatest opportunities for growth and development, and above all the most chances to do each other a little more good than you have ever had in all your lives.

"I can wish the city of Newark nothing better than that all of its citizens may join in a spirit of generous co-operation and mutual helpfulness."

In introducing Dr. C. L. Williams, Mr. Norpell declared that Licking county had other interests than those centered in business and manufacturing. He said that the county was proud of its educational institutions, and particularly of Denison University at Granville. He presented Dr. Williams as representing that institution.

Dr. Williams spoke in a happy vein, relating many anecdotes and applying them to the aims of an organization such as the Board of Trade. He declared that he was interested in the work of the Board of Trade, because anything it accomplished for the good of the city, must of necessity be a benefit to the entire county. "And that's where I come in," said the speaker.

He urged the importance of realizing that men were more or less dependent upon one another. "They speak of John D. Rockefeller being independent," said Dr. Williams. "Who makes his wig. He must depend upon some one to provide that."

He spoke of conservatism as being one of the hindrances to efficiency, declaring that many conservative towns and organizations were dead, inert, but they insisted upon calling themselves conservative.

Using the slang expressions "chustle" and "live wire" he illustrated why these should be recognized as good terms of speech because they express the thought as no other words recognized by over-educated people.

"Why, there was a professor in our town who came home one evening and was unable to find a match to light the gas. He told his wife he would light the gas without a match. He snatched his foot over the heavy wooden rug, turned on the gas, and touched the tip of his finger. A star of electricity ignited the gas. 'That man was a live wire, even if he didn't know it.'

It is said that an old woman once said common sense is seen in three places: in a man's face, in a man's hand and in a man's feet. When I was a boy I was too young to enter the army but was very full of the spirit of militarism. We were organized into a company, with a real army officer to drill us. Armed with broom sticks the captain one day ordered us to charge a row of chickens, bushes across the pasture. We charged the enemy and ran into a hornet's nest.

We retreated. There was a committee of five hornets for every boy and none of them seemed to know when he had stung enough. We were stung long before the hornets were. Our trouble was that we did not recognize them. We didn't look ahead."

Dr. Williams closed his talk with a parable of his own. He described a number of snow banks occupying opposite sides of a valley. A quarrel arose among the snow banks as to which was the largest and prettiest. It continued all day long. The sun in the heavens continued its journey and when the day was done, the quarrelling snow banks had disappeared, only to form a stream in the valley below which, when united, produced the lower wheel which turned the wheels of the old mill and accomplished something. At the close of the last address, short addresses were made by Charles A. Smith, regarding the Blair Motor Truck company, and Attorney Rodrick Jones, chairman of a committee appointed two weeks ago, reported on the condition of the plant. The report was in printed form and a copy was presented to each of the men present. A motion was adopted that a committee of five be appointed to take up the matter of the Blair company in an effort to aid in the financing of the concern which was declared by the committee to be a splendid institution. Votes of thanks were extended to the committee which arranged the banquet, to the speakers for their splendid addresses, and to the orchestra, whose members donated their services to the good of the cause.

A Statue of Brick.

Perhaps no other nation in the world save the inventive Germans would have thought of building a statue of brick. In the little city of Veszegsack near Bremen and in the district of the German clay fields, the citizens have erected such a statue to one of their number who won fame as an African explorer. The monument is of brick, thirty feet in height, including the pedestal. The architect molded the figures of a man and camel out of a solid mass of clay, which was turned in a great kiln and then sawed into brick sized blocks.

CONFERENCE

BETWEEN TREASURY OFFICIALS AND FINANCIERS OF TWO AMERICAS

Will Be Called for Next Spring to Discuss Problems Arising From European War.

(Associated Press Telegram.)

Washington, Dec. 30.—Administration officials were going ahead today with plans for a conference here probably early next spring between treasury department officials and American financiers and the ministers of finance and leading bankers of Central and South American nations on financial and commercial problems facing the two Americas, in consequence of the European war. Acceptance of the United States government's invitations to all Central and South American countries to participate in the gathering have already been received from several of these nations.

The plan for the proposed conference originated with Secretary McAdoo.

At present trade between the United States and South America is comparatively insignificant and is attributed to the fact that American bankers do virtually no business direct with those countries, foreign exchange there being carried on through London. South and Central American buyers have obtained long term credits in Europe, but owing to the war English capital is being utilized at home.

While a few branches of American banks have been established in South America, a great trade stimulus has resulted and a well defined movement to make direct banking operations possible.

BABY CRIB FOR FIRST 1915 BABY

The Sperry-Harris Co. has originated a novel idea in the way of advertising their new furniture store. They propose to give to the first baby born in the city of Newark in the year 1915 a fine white enameled baby crib.

The Sperry Harris Co. expects to continue this custom each year, so if you are not fortunate in 1915 you still have a chance. They are taking all bets that the first Newark baby will be a boy. The crib can be seen on display in the window of their store at 14 North Park Place.

PENSIONS

FOR TEACHERS OVER SIXTY YEARS OF AGE ARE FAVORABLY CONSIDERED.

At Meeting of Ohio Teachers' Association—Many Suggestions As to Plans.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Columbus, Dec. 30.—Two plans for securing pension of teachers past sixty years of age proposed yesterday were dominant topics of interest and discussion at sessions of the Ohio teachers association here today. City superintendents, principals and supervisors at their departmental meeting spent the greater part of the morning arguing the best method of administering teachers pensions.

A suggestion made and discussed much today proposed that the fund now paid by boards of education under the workmen's compensation law be transferred to a pension fund. It was argued by a number of educators attending the meeting that the benefits received by teachers under the workmen's compensation system are not proportionate to the funds paid to the state by boards of education. Teachers seldom suffer accidents such as to disable them during the course of their employment but they have an urgent need for protection in old age, it was said.

Professor E. A. Jones of Otterbein University, former state school commissioner explained the merits of the pension plan proposed by him yesterday. Its chief difference from the plan proposed by the Hamilton County Teachers' association is that it provides for a less amount to be set aside by the pension fund.

The Jones plan would provide for withholding one per cent. of teachers' salaries and appropriation by the state of one per cent. of the total state appropriations for education. Two per cent. in each instance is provided by the Hamilton county plan. Both measures name sixty years as the age when teachers could become beneficiaries of the pension system, when the provisions that they must have taught thirty years, and at least half of this time in schools in Ohio.

A few educators opposed agitating strenuously the pension proposition for action by the general assembly which convenes next Monday. They recommended waiting until other recent school reforms are tested before pressing the legislature for a teachers pension law.

Today was given over almost entirely to departmental meetings of the educators. The programs included addresses by Principal F. M. Shelton, Canton; Principal P. A. Johnston, Woodward High School, Cincinnati; W. M. Gregory, Cleveland Normal School; W. H. Peabodie, Cincinnati; Prof. E. M. Perkins, Western Reserve University, Cleveland; Miss Lulu Cumbach, Springfield; Prof. C. W. Parks, University of Cincinnati; William Sayres Woodward High School, Cincinnati; Paul E. Cromer, Portsmouth; Miss Florence Short, Springfield; Miss Pagenstecher, Dayton; Harry L. Senger, Woodward High School, Cincinnati, and J. P. Probst, Dayton.

The teachers' meeting will continue through tomorrow.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Don't stay gray! Nobody can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, making one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant. Agents Hall's Drug Store.

TRUST COMPANY'S MONTHLY REPORT CROP CONDITIONS

The Newark Trust company has issued the monthly crop report of which the following is an extract:

"A year combining heavy production with long prices for crops is a rarity and this year 1914 will undoubtedly stand as the farmer's record year for some time to come. The principal crops were good, the output of winter wheat, corn, cotton, oats, barley, rye and hay exceeding last year while only spring wheat and flax fell below the quantity produced last year. These facts in themselves would mean a great deal to the country because a large farm production means a more prosperous condition for every one but, this year, the large production happens to be coupled with long prices. Spring wheat, winter wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax are all bringing better prices on the average than a year ago, while corn, hay and cotton are selling at lower prices.

"The southern planter is not enjoying the same measure of prosperity which has come to the farmers of the north as the large crop of the south is cotton and the south also grows nowadays a considerable quantity of corn and both cotton and corn are selling below last year's prices—cotton very much lower.

Regardless of when the war ends, there will again be a shortage of wheat in Europe next year because there will be a shortage of seed and of the men and animals to take care of it, so that our wheat-growing farmers will probably have another year of high-priced wheat, and it is to be hoped that they will also enjoy a bountiful crop.

"The condition of winter wheat now in the ground is not of the best.

"The corn crop for 1914 is 2,673 million bushels, compared with 2,417 last year.

"The oats crop of 1,141 million bushels compared with 1,122 last year was worth, at farm prices on December first, 499 million dollars, while the crop last year was valued on the same date at 440 million dollars.

"We grew nearly 43 million bushels of rye compared with 41 last year and the farm value of the crop on December first was 37 million dollars compared with 26 millions for last year's crop at the same date.

"This year's barley totaled 195 million bushels compared with 178 last year.

"We cut 70 million tons of tame hay this year compared with 64 millions last year but hay is worth at the farm more than a dollar a ton less than a year ago.

The farm value on December first of the eight principal crops was 340 million dollars in excess of the value of the same crops last year at the same date.

"This year we have produced the largest cotton crop in the history of the country and as the major part of this crop is usually exported, the growers of the South find themselves loaded up with a heavy crop which on December first was worth on the average at the plantation only 6.8 cents per pound, compared with 12.2 cents a year ago. At the present plantation value, this year's crop would bring the planters only 519 million dollars, compared with 854 millions for last year's crop at the same date.

"Europe is in need of almost every product of cotton, including fabrics of all kinds, bandages, surgical cotton, etc., and the mills of America might have placed themselves in a position to furnish it. The situation is that the European mills have recovered themselves more quickly than the American mills with the result that, while we will probably use more cotton in manufactures in the country than usual, the excess will be nothing as compared to what it might have been.

"A dependable compilation has not yet been made, but it is roughly estimated that only 33 million acres have been sown to winter wheat. This year we had over 35 million acres and last year nearly 32 millions.

"Certain interests have been notifying feeders that there is little demand for heavy beef and the result of this rumor, for it is little more, has been to rush light stuff to market.

"On December 14th, more cattle arrived at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, than on any previous day in five years, the total being 42,000 head. Present corn and hay prices are not high and farmers who can afford to hold their cattle and prepare them for the early spring market will probably get a fairly good price for the feed they consume.

"Within a month or two, we shall make a detailed live-stock report, which we trust will show every farmer the advantages of growing more live stock and of feeding the bulk of his own crops on his own farm."

BERLIN REPORTS TURKS' SUCCESS IN CAUCASUS

(Associated Press Telegram)

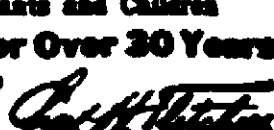

Berlin, via Sarville, Dec. 30.—Among the items issued by the official news bureau today are the following:

"Constantinople reports another Turkish success on the river Kura, in the Caucasus. The Turks took many prisoners, several guns and other war material.

"Turkish headquarters reports that the pursuit of the Russian army in the Caucasus is proceeding. It also reports that the British renewed their attempt to land troops at Akabah, Arabia, but failed.

"Rome reports that the Japanese ambassador there has stated that the rumors of an intended intervention by Japan in the European war theater are unfounded."

CASTORIA For Infants and Children In Use For Over 30 Years

Always bears the Signature of Incidental Music.

One of the most thesaurus, not to say exasperating, traditions of the theater is incidental music—particularly the music that is presumably intended to accentuate dialogue. It has been a conviction of mine that the expedient is a confession of actor weakness. No actor worthy of the name needs that kind of help. Some of you graybeards hark back to Edwin Booth and try to imagine him in the fourth act of "Rich- elieu," for example, delivering the curse of Rome speech in unison with the performers in the orchestra well!

One difference between theatrical performances in Germany and those in America is in this very incidental music. In our country every actor that holds a prominent relation to the play in hand must have music to bring him on the stage and more music to take him off. The music cue is ridiculously overworked. Many plays are made unintelligible by the intrusion of untimely music simultaneously with lines that nobody could catch.—Detroit Free Press.

Army of Ancient Rome.

Consider the Roman army from the fifth century B. C. onward until the division of the empire. Its fighting organization was as complete as and possibly more practical than that of any army of today. It was based on a territorial system which maintained the comradeship of locality without bringing it into antagonism with that of the corps, for each of the thirty-five Roman "tribes" was required to furnish to each legion four "centuries" of 120 men each, each of which worked together as a local unit. The legion was divided into five cohorts or battalions, of which three were troops of the line, two were a kind of militia and the fifth was a depot battalion. For almost eight centuries the army thus constituted not only conquered the then known world, but acted as explorers beyond its limits and at the same time made and unmade kings and emperors in Rome itself.—London Opinion.

Polar Nights Delight Eskimos.

The polar Eskimos, the most northerly dwelling people in the world, are said to exist only by the exercise of great ingenuity and the practice of social virtue. The cheeriness, kindness and practical socialism of the Eskimos from eastern Greenland to Alaska may be regarded as much due to their environment as is the necessity of eating large quantities of fat. The Eskimos have the first dark evenings with the same glee as the first daylight after the polar night. When a whole summer through the eyes have been bathed in light, day and night, they long to see the land vanish into darkness again. And with the idea of a change they associate all the good things the winter will bring—the frozen sea and the hunting on the ice, the swift sledge drives, far from the sweltering houses, after bears.—Exchange.

Thrift Versus Stinginess.

It ought to be easy to tell the difference between thrift and stinginess. But many folk don't know it. No tightwad does. A thrifty man is always a liberal man, though not a wasteful one. When he spends a dollar his face doesn't show spasms of pain nor does he tremble with avarice until his dollar returns, leading another dollar of profit. He spends intelligently and therefore willingly, and is content to await the outcome, because he knows that in the long run he will get back from society about in proportion as he gives. As with individuals so with communities, states, nations. Economy doesn't mean parsimony. It means when and how to be liberal. It means having foresight.—Cleveland Press.

His Superiority.

A mission worker tells how shocked she was to encounter this bit of cynicism in the slums. The conversation was between two women whose marital life had not been particularly felicitous.

"Well," said one of them, "of course we have our troubles with all of 'em. But I'll say this for my second husband—he's better than any first. He's in jail so much that practically all I earn I has for myself."—Lippincott's.

Lundy Island.

Lundy Island, at the entrance of the Bristol channel, has a queer record. It was owned in the eighteenth century by a Barnstable man, who contracted to ship convicts to Virginia, but only took them to the island, where he profitably employed them, even in smuggling to the mainland.

Ministerial Aspirants.

Statistics show that in the early days of American colleges about one-half of all the graduates adopted the ministry as a profession. At the present time it is different; only about 5 per cent of the college graduates become ministers.

In Business.

Attention, application, accuracy, method, punctuality and dispatch are the principal qualities required for the efficient conduct of business of any sort.—Samuel Smiles.

The Periscope.

The periscope, by which a submerged submarine is steered, is a kind of tube with mirrors in it whereby what is happening on the surface is reflected below.

An Explained Dislike.

The first kind of the admiralty sighed. "I do not like submarines," he muttered and then he added, "for divers reasons."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Great undeveloped deposits of iron and coal exist in China.

Latin Names Needed.

What is called a cruller in New York is called a doughnut in Boston, and what is called a cruller in Boston is called a doughnut in New York. And so on through the list. There is no more certainty or fixity about the popular names of dishes than there is about the popular names of flowers and birds. At least thirty different flowers are known by the name of "mayflower" in the United States. The mayflower of New England is the arbutus of New York and the wax myrtle of the south. To obtain certainty in such matters it is necessary to have a scientific classification and a Latin name. When you speak to a botanical gent about a "mayflower" he knows not what you mean, but if you refer to the Epigaea repens he knows exactly what you are talking about. Consequently we shall never have any certainty about what a dish is until we have a regular scientific classification, with Latin names, for all dishes. In that case the "botanical name" of Vermont hasty pudding would be something like mushinus cornmealensis and no chance for controversy.—New York Mail.

A Long Way to the Other One.

Count Karolyi, according to the Vossische Zeitung, returning to his castle in Hungary, met one of his old servants who had just been sent back wounded from the war.

"My good man, I hear you fought so valiantly at the front," said the count. "I would like to give you some reward. What shall it be?"

The old servant replied: "Well, if you insist upon it, sir, just give me enough krown coins to reach from one ear to the other."

"That seems to be a very little reward," replied the count, smiling at the odd request.

"It's enough for me, sir," answered the servant modestly.

As the count was beginning to comply with the strange request he noticed that the servant had only one ear and remarked upon the fact.

"Yes, sir, I left the other ear on the battlefield at Shabatz," answered the modest man.

Fire Averages.

Following is an extract from an article in Farm and Fireside on preventing and fighting fires:

Fires in our homes are so frequent that the insurance companies tell us that we have about one chance in sixty of being burnt out some time in the course of a lifetime. But in the same breath they tell us that more than half the fires could be prevented if people understood the commonest causes of them and knew just what to do when a fire starts. Smokers are responsible for thousands of fires, and rats and mice cause many others by nibbling at sulphur tipped matches. Fires which start in closets are often caused by matches being left in clothes or by oily cloths which have been stored away. Many of the floor polishing mixtures contain highly explosive oils, and spontaneous combustion may start from a nest of these cleaning cloths if placed in a closet near the chimney.

Pigs' Feet in the Pit.

Salaries at the early New York theaters were extremely small. But if the salaries were small so were the prices of admission. One shilling, 12½ cents, let you into the gallery or the pit, and if you didn't have the shilling the mercenary management forced you to pay 13 cents. So the boys got the habit of changing their money at a fishwoman's on the corner, who for 15 cents obligingly gave them a shilling and a pig's foot. They banded in the shilling at the door and during the course of the evening presented the well picked bone to the management by way of some unfortunate in the pit or on the stage.

An Easier Method.

Not Handsome but Wealthy Bride (asking the question for the hundredth time or thereabouts)—Are you sure, perfectly sure, dear Albert, that you married me for myself alone, and not for my money? Dear Albert (who is getting somewhat weary of answering the same old chestnut)—Of course I am! If it had been only your money I wanted I would have tried burglary or some easier way of getting it.

Mean Answer.

"Fred, dear, why are some women called Amazons?"

"Well, my dear, you remember our geographies told us that the Amazon has the largest mouth?"

But she went out and slammed the door before he could say any more.

Broad Hint.

Henry—My, my, how you've grown since I've been calling on your sister Mae. Johnnie—Sure. Sis says she guesses I'll be a voter before you git around to propose.—Boston Record.

Light Reading.

Booklover—Have you something for light reading? Librarian—Yes, ma'am. Here's the gas company's annual report.—Buffalo Express.

A Warning.

Today the boy who is sassing mother will grow up and marry a woman who will not stand for any pert talk.—New Orleans States.

Germany's Food Problem.

Since the embargo on all imports to Germany has become effective, many estimates of her resources both by her own authorities and by others have been published, in which considerable differences of opinion have been expressed. A careful and comprehensive survey of the subject is made by a writer in the fourth war issue of the Scientific American, and his conclusion is that Germany has sufficient food to last for at least a year. A portion of his remarks, which are of exceeding interest, are as follows:

Germany's extraordinary isolation in both the military and commercial relations of the empire has been fully noted in the daily press; and much has been made of the fact that she usually imports about a third of the wheat she uses, and all of certain textile materials, such as raw cotton and silk. It has been confidently predicted that the war will result in the ruin of her foreign trade and the utter prostration of her industries; while it seems to be assumed, without much evidence of any careful study of the situation, that in the matter of food supplies, particularly, the war will quickly lead to scanty fare, if not to widespread hardships, from actual lack of food.

But this notion, while it has something to support it, fails to grasp the fact that Germany, an export nation on her home resources for fully a year, and that this capacity for self-support in the face of a universal embargo has a very high military value. It is probably true that long before next August, if the war were to last as long as that, the people of Germany could be put to many shifts from their usual mode of living. They might, for instance, have to learn to eat a greater part of their annual production of some two billion bushels of potatoes which are now mostly used in the production of industrial alcohol. In the absence of imports of raw cotton, they would undoubtedly have to economize on stockings, underwear, and shirts. But they could very well do these things, and many others that necessity might require without any real bodily suffering. The South, in our Civil War, cheerfully endured privations much greater than any of a material sort likely to afflict the German people in the course of a year's war.

Bravery In War.

That physical bravery is necessary in the men making up an army in the field is accepted by everyone, and it appears to be particularly essential in the present conflict where every visible body of men is met by showers of projectiles of every size. To calmly meet such conditions it has been customary to assume that a particular class of men were necessary, men of callous dispositions, of hardened hands; but that this is far from the case in the present war is brought out in an editorial in the fourth special war issue of the Scientific American of December 5th, in which the following surprising facts are told:

Man need not be brutal to be physically brave. Never, since the time when men first marched into battle, have armies taken the field in which there was such high average of education and refinement as in these contending hosts on the French and Belgian battle grounds. Among these four or more millions of men we doubt if a corporal's guard can be found that is not able to read and write. And the grade of culture extends from that of the state school up to the highest education of the colleges and universities.

War may be brutal, but the deed of the citizen-soldier is not. The noblest test of the character, courage and proved the fact that the most intimate relation between man and bravery. Rather, it is a chain of the mental, moral and spiritual uplift of the age we live in.

Appeal Granted Frank.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Justice Lamar's decision to grant Leo M. Frank an appeal from the decision of the Federal court in Georgia, which refused to release him on habeas corpus proceedings, lays the execution set for January 22 and assures him a hearing before the United States Supreme court. This will be the second presentation before the supreme tribunal, but on different grounds. The first was based on the fact that Frank was not present in the Georgia court when convicted, being withheld through fear of mob violence should the verdict have been other than guilty. Whether this invalidated the proceedings was the question originally submitted to the court at Washington, but the ruling there was that this was a question of procedure determinable by the state courts. The present appeal is on the habeas corpus proceedings and raises, as Justice Lamar says, several points that have never been passed upon by the United States Supreme court.

There is, therefore, he says, probable cause for the appeal. In ordinary circumstances it might be eighteen months before the case is reached, but counsel for the state of Georgia hopes to have it expedited and possibly adjudicated within sixty days. The granting of the appeal, of course, in no way indicates what the disposition of the case by the highest court may be. The points at issue in these proceedings are not of procedure and do not promise necessarily a reopening or review of the evidence upon which Frank was convicted. But for the moment Frank is given new hope. The extraordinary circumstances of his case and the general look of his guilt have attracted national attention, so much so as to lead many to hope that, as a last resort, if necessary, the governor of Georgia should commute the sentence on the chance that time may disclose the truth.

"Why, they have," replied his wife, brightly, as she applied some powder coquettishly to her nose. "They have, and you are it!"—Youth's Companion.

Army and Navy Publicity. The only sure way to learn whether the army and navy are both efficient and sufficient is to go to war with some one of our own size. But Rev. Dr. Layman Abbott's declaration that the American people have a right to know whether their army and navy are up to the mark is of course, not to be interrupted in that sense. The people surely have a right to know all there is to know about the military strength of the country, and any person reading any can easily find out by writing to his congressman for 20 or 30 public documents in which the truth has been lying naked for years. Meanwhile, the officers testifying at the hearings by Congressional committees have been talking freely. Not a single European government ever permits such publicity as the army and navy experts are already giving to the American people this winter.—Christian Register.

THE WEARY WAR.

Oh, let us talk of other things than war and heaps of slain; of spelling bees and wedding rings, of crops and timely rain. We say the same things o'er and o'er, a million times a day, concerning Europe's crimson shore, where foemen hack and slay; we criticize the warring kings, who brought such misery; oh, let us let us talk of other things—of turnips or of tea!

If talking could accomplish peace, I'd say, to old and young, "Oh, dope your jaws with axle grease, and lubricate your tongue, and spiel until the welkin rings"—but talk will ne'er do that; so let us talk of other things, the corn crop or the cat. It is not good to thrash away at one eternal theme, to dream by night and talk by day of Europe's frenzied scream; to hum the song an army sings while marching to its doom; so let us talk of other things, of buttercups in bloom; oh, it were wise to save our breath to talk of Christmas joys, of things which are not steeped in death, of mistletoe and toys.

Cheer In the Midst of War

By JOHN KENDRICK BANGS

Federal Aid to Settle Strike May be Called

(Associated Press Telegram) Martins Ferry, Dec. 30.—Federal aid to settle the strike of 15,000 coal miners in eastern Ohio is to be sought this afternoon by a committee of men from the Wheeling, W. Va., Board of Trade. This committee plans to call on Congressman W. B. Francis at his home here, which is across the Ohio river from Wheeling, and also to appeal to Secretary of Labor Wilson at Washington, urging that the government try to settle the strike which started the first of April last.

Efforts of the Wheeling Board of Trade to enlist the services of the government resulted from the announcement by some operators in the eastern Ohio field that miners occupying coal company houses would be evicted because they have paid no rent since the strike began.

Congressman Francis was expected to leave for Washington tonight, to confer with Secretary of Labor Wilson.

COAL OPERATORS TO MEET IN CLEVELAND NEXT MONDAY, JAN. 4.

(Associated Press Telegram) Cleveland, Dec. 30.—Members of the Ohio Coal Operators Association, owning mines in the eastern Ohio field where 15,000 miners have been on strike since the first of April, last, will meet here Monday. It was announced here today that the strike situation and the announced intention of the Purslove-Haley company to evict miners who have not paid rent since the strike began will be one of the important subjects discussed at the meeting was intimated by operators.

Whether any action will be taken by the operators association with reference to the eviction of miners is not now known, according to Walter Woodford, president of the association. "It will be a regular monthly meeting," said Mr. Woodford, "and of course I cannot say what action will be taken. I do not even know that any action will be taken, but I presume the present situation in all its phases will be discussed."

WAR COULD BE STOPPED IN 90 DAYS

BY UNITED STATES CUTTING OFF EXPORT OF WAR SUPPLIES TO EUROPE.

Opinion of Congressman Who Wants President Empowered to Forbid Such Shipments.

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Dec. 30.—How the United States could end the European war in 90 days by cutting off the export of war supplies was described today by Representative Vollmer of Iowa, to the house foreign affairs committee. With Representative Bartholdt, he endorsed a joint resolution to empower the president, in his discretion, to prohibit such exports.

American embargoes from 1794 down to the Mexican arms embargo of 1912 were cited by Vollmer in a legal argument to support the constitutional right of congress to act.

"President Wilson," he said, "suspended the embargo of export of arms and munitions to Mexico in the interests of true neutrality as against neutrality on paper."

"I maintain that the pending resolution is in line with the historic reputation of this nation as the greatest advocate of peace. It is not in line with that reputation to supply the instruments of murder to European nations. Are we to take the position of the arch-hypocrite among the nations? Are we to go upon our knees and pray for peace and at the same time supply the death dealing instruments to Europe? Are we to plead with God for peace with the blood money in our pockets?"

"We are now in the position of sending dollars for Belgium and dumbdum bullets for Germany."

Representative Vollmer emphatically declared:

"Germany cannot be beaten in this war. Her people are united and determined to fight to the last drop of blood. If this war continues it will go on and on, until all the world is dragged down to bankruptcy."

"There is only one nation whose lines of national interest are hopelessly opposed to ours. I do not hesitate to predict that Japan proposes to hold, not only Kiao Chow but the islands of the Pacific which she has seized. Some day this issue must be tried out in the Pacific and it may be to the interest of this country to have a power-friend at her side."

"Do you think the German government expects us seriously to pass such a resolution as this?" asked Chairman Flood.

"I believe and persons who have been in Germany say," replied Vollmer, "that the Germans look with grave displeasure on shipments of arms to the allies."

Representative Bartholdt told the committee that by "dollar neutrality" the United States was alienating the friendship of Germany and Austria.

"The alliance of Great Britain with Japan is not a good omen for our future in the Pacific. We are now selling our neutrality for British gold," said he.

"Is it your contention that while technically neutral, we are really one of the allies, supplying the bullets for the others?" asked Representative Cooper.

"I believe we are particeps criminis," said Representative Bartholdt, "in the maiming and killing of men, the making of widows and orphans, and the prolongation of war."

Representative Bartholdt declared shipments of war munitions since the war began aggregated $15,000,000.

"I am convinced," he said in conclusion, "that by cutting off the exportation of these war supplies we can bring the war to a close very soon. And the cutting off of just one month of war would mean more to us than all the profits that the manufacturers of war supplies could make."

The committee arranged to hear delegations from New York, Chicago and Philadelphia beginning Sunday.

STEAMER ON ROCKS.

(Associated Press Telegram) Halifax, N. S., Dec. 30. The steamer Navarra, 207 tons, from St. John, N. B., which sailed yesterday under admiral charter for France, struck on Holmes Island during the night and was reported this afternoon to be breaking up. No word was received as to the safety of her crew.

Russia Denies She Has Made Any Overtures

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Dec. 30.—A statement having been sent widespread through the United States that Russia proposes negotiations for peace with Germany independent of her allies, France and England, and it having been suggested that Ambassador Bakhmeteff had knowledge of such an arrangement, the Russian Ambassador to the United States has not only issued a statement denying such a possibility but has cabled the foreign office at Petrograd and received the following message from the Russian minister of foreign affairs:

"Certainly deny absolutely the absurd statement."

Passing of T. A. Hill Terminates Tragic Sequence of Deaths In This Single Newark Family

Thomas A. Hill passed away at 11:15, Wednesday morning, at his home, 215 Central avenue. He was stricken with paralysis about 4 o'clock, Tuesday evening, being unconscious until death relieved him.

He was born February 13, 1849, at Collier, W. Va., where he resided until about thirty-two years ago, when, with his family, he removed to Ohio, and the greater part of the time since has been spent on the farm at the corner of Church and Twenty-first streets. The latter ten years of his life has been spent in the city. He was married to Miss Martha Hendricks, and she, with one daughter, Mrs. J. F. Lyons, and one granddaughter, Martha Lyons, survive him.

The death of Mr. Hill is the third in a strange sequence of fatalities, each surrounded with circumstances of peculiar sadness.

Mr. Hill's youngest daughter, Mrs. Frederic Fulton, passed to the beyond just three weeks ago, and his little grandson, Guy Hill Fulton, was laid beside his mother last Saturday afternoon. He also leaves two half-brothers, Rev. Wm. Hunter of Pennsylvania, and G. J. Hunter of Collier, W. Va., besides a foster-brother, Albert Hunter, of Collier, W. Va. His high standard of Christian living was an inspiration to all with whom he came in contact. His large circle of friends as well as his immediate family feel spiritually richer because of his having lived in their midst.

Funeral services will be held at Central Church of Christ, Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. W. D. Ward officiating. Interment at Cedar Hill cemetery.

government for relaxation in the matter of searching American cargoes.

One prominent British official pointed out that Italy has effectively checked contraband shipments to Austria-Hungary and Germany with the result that Great Britain is not stopping ships destined for Italy unless there appears special reason to suspect fraudulent consignments.

A guarantee by the United States as to the honesty of bills of lading and the enactment of strict regulations for the sever punishment of fraud, granting that the American government could find satisfactory means of making such a guarantee, is admitted by this prominent official as a possible step which might cause a relaxation in the search of American cargoes.

British officials call attention to the lenient attitude adopted by the British government toward American cotton, which they say might easily be regarded as contraband, because of its extensive use in gun cotton, but which has not been put on the contraband list. They say this leniency toward cotton, however, has been abused by shippers who used it to conceal copper and other contraband.

Dogs of War. "Could you call Zeppelins dogs of war?"

Interrogated Mr. Blink "I think you could," I answered. "For they're savage brutes. I think."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Frank discussion of the note by British officials shows that they regard it as friendly and they do not believe the differences between America and Great Britain are such that cannot be reconciled satisfactorily.

Much depends upon the effective character on the part of Denmark, Holland, Norway and Sweden to prevent the re-shipment to Germany and Austria-Hungary of cargoes received from the United States. Until water-tight regulations are put in force in these countries, little hope, it is understood, is held out by the British

United States Steel also reflected renewed pressure, as did Interborough preferred. Canadian Pacific, Pennsylvania and several of the less important metal shares were among the few stocks to show initial advances. Care of the Wounded in Battle.

When the chief surgeon of an army is making arrangements for the collection of wounded during an impending battle he always bears in mind the fact that men will be wounded in different numbers at different ranges and, of course, he sees that the most efficient ambulance service is given where the losses are heaviest. To aid him in making arrangements, he knows roughly what the losses in these various "zones," as they are called, will work out at.

At a range of 1,000 yards he knows that about 20 per cent of the men engaged will be wounded, while between 1,000 and 400 yards as high a percentage as 60 are liable to be disabled. Only a comparatively small number of the soldiers who take part in the last "grand, glorious rush" are wounded, however, 10 per cent being the proportion, while somewhere about the same percentage of men are wounded during the pursuit of a retreating army.—London Tit-Bits.

A Short Lived Race.

The average duration of life is shorter in New Guinea than in any other country, possibly owing to the peculiar diet affected by the natives, who devour with gusto the larvae of beetles, dug out of decayed tree trunks, and habitually drink sea water when near the coast. "The people die off at about forty," we are told in Mr. A. E. Pratt's "Two Years Among the New Guinea Cannibals." "We saw one very old man, who may have been about sixty years of age—the only example of longevity that we came across. He was bent almost double and had a long, white beard. His fellow tribesmen regarded him as a great curiosity, and brought him to see us. Despite the decrepitude of his body, however, there was no trace of senility. His senses were unimpaired, and the poor old creature showed great gratitude for a gift of tobacco."

The Chimera.

The chimera was a fabulous monster with a lion's and a goat's head, a serpent's tail and a goat's middle, which inhabited the dreadful mountain of Lycia, in Greece, and defended itself against attack by vomiting flames of fire. It was at last conquered by Belerophon, the god of war, who mounted it on the famous horse Pegasus. The strange combination of the form of the chimera was evolved from the fact that the terrible Lycia was partly a burning mountain, with here and there a desolate wilderness, the resort of lions, and occasionally a few fertile spots where goats did congregate, while at the foot of the great hill was a swamp infested with snakes. From this curious creation of superstition sprung the origin of the word "chimera," in designation of an idle fancy or a foolish creation of the brain.

Naval Stores.

Answering the question, "What is the derivation of the term 'naval stores' (applied to rosin, turpentine, etc.) and why are they so called?" the New York Sun says:

"It seems odd that the change from the stately frigates of our navy to mere machinery proves so long established that the meaning of naval stores is perishing. When fleets maneuvered under canvas the prime stores of the navy were tar, pitch and turpentine, famous products of North Carolina, therefore in all propriety naval stores. The modern fighting ship has no rigging to be tarred down and needs no tar. Her decks are caulked with a pneumatic riveter and need no pitch, hot or cold, no matter what may be to pay. But the name outlasts the use."

That Ruffled Air.

The judge made jokes, the witnesses looked weary, the counsel declaimed and cross examined, the twelve good men and true twiddled their thumbs, and the usher ushered whenever necessary. Altogether it was a model court. "Now, ma'am," cried the cross examining K. C., "was the defendant's air when, as you allege, he promised to marry you perfectly serious or was it, on the contrary, jocular and full of levity?" "It was all ruffled," replied the plaintiff, "with 'Im ruffin' 'is 'ands through it."—London Mail.

Odor of Iodoform.

The odor of iodoform can be removed from the hands by wetting them, taking a pinch of dry mustard, rubbing it well in and washing it off with soap and water. In the same way the odor of iodoform may be removed from utensils that have contained it, only in this case the mustard should be made into a paste, spread upon them and left for two or three hours.

Evading Responsibilities.

"I promised that girl never to smoke if she would marry me," said the discouraged looking man. "What did she say?" "She remarked that she did not care to be utilized as an excuse for any personal economies I might contemplate."—Washington Star.

Told You So.

"It's the unexpected that always happens." "Oh, I don't know! Somebody always claims to have predicted it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Quick Turn.

"Jiggs is quite a magician." "So?" "Yes, I just saw him turn his motor into a lamp-post."—Buffalo Express.

Wealthy Mexican Said to Have Had $10,000 Among the Hold-up Victims.

(Associated Press Telegram)
San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 30.—Two masked men boarded the westbound Sunset express on the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio railroad near Elgin, Texas, early today and at the point of revolvers robbed all of the passengers in the two rear sleepers. As they neared Spofford, Texas, the robbers gave an air cord signal for the train to stop, after which they dropped off and escaped. A posse was quickly organized by officers aboard the train and started in pursuit.

The two men sauntered aboard the rear sleeper as the train was leaving Elgin and crossed the porter. With drawn pistols they forced him to awaken the passengers and as fast as the latter left their berths they were robbed of their valuables. Just how much was taken is not known, but it is believed that the sum was considerable.

A drawing room in one of the sleeping cars robbed, was occupied by a wealthy Mexican, who is said to have carried $10,000 in jewelry and money. It is not known if he lost this. The bandits did not have time to rob the occupants of the other three sleeping cars. They did not molest passengers in the coaches, nor attempt to enter the express, baggage or mail cars.

Uncle Sam Offers All Americans a Chance to Feed Starving Belgium

Arrangements Made For Sending Parcel
Post Packages From Rural Districts.
How to Aid the Stricken Little Sister of the World
== By WILL IRWIN ==

HOMELESS BELGIAN WOMEN ON THE WAY TO THE BREAD LINE.

FOR the first time in its history the postoffice department has been enlisted in a charitable undertaking. From this time forth any American who wishes to give food to the starving people of Belgium has only to stamp his parcel in the regular way and send it through the parcel post. It will go as straight and fast as rail and water will carry it to the doors of the starving Belgians, and the money he has paid for stamps will be refunded to the donor by the American Commission For Relief in Belgium, the executive offices of which are at 71 Broadway, New York city.

Seven million people, mostly women, children and old men, are still shut up in Belgium. Industry stopped when the Germans came; the money gave out through the payment of fines and indemnities; the crops were mainly ruined. With the coasts cut off, Belgium, which imports three-quarters of her food supply in normal times, could import no more. Work is gone; money is gone; most important of all, food is gone. The German conquerors, who need all their own supplies to guard against the proposed "siege of Germany" by the allies, cannot and will not feed them. The allies, fearing that the Germans will seize any food coming from a hostile source, cannot or will not feed them. America must feed them or they will starve. There is no other way. Seven million people, until last year the most industrious, peaceable and prosperous nation in Europe, will go to their graves this winter unless America gives as never nation gave before.

While Belgium needs everything, she needs most of all just food—non-perishable food which will stand the test of ocean transportation, such as flour of any kind, peas, beans and preserved meats. The donor has only to put up his gift in packages of not less than twenty-five pounds nor more than fifty pounds, stamp it in the usual way and mail it at the nearest postoffice. If the donor adds his own name and address, TOGETHER WITH THE LETTER "R," the money he has paid for stamps will be refunded to him by the commission.

Packages mailed from OHIO should be addressed to BUCKEYE TRANSFER AND STORAGE, COLUMBUS; B. & O. S. W. WAREHOUSE COMPANY, CINCINNATI; GENERAL CARTAGE AND STORAGE COMPANY, CLEVELAND; TOLEDO WAREHOUSE COMPANY, 1300 LAGRANGE STREET, TOLEDO; UNION STORAGE COMPANY, DAYTON; SPRINGFIELD TRANSFER AND STORAGE COMPANY, SPRINGFIELD; who are collecting agents for this district.

Received $40 Per Month for Driving Mail Wagon Toledo Man Yielded to Impulse.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Toledo, Dec. 30.—Search of the home of Ed Cunningham, resulted in the recovery of two baskets and a large box of goods alleged to have been stolen from the mails.

The recovered property included lace curtains, men's and women's valuable jewelry, linens, leather goods, silverware, a knife of "gent's furnishings," silks, diamonds, dental gold, bicycle parts, hardware, electrical supplies, men's and women's clothing, and household furnishings.

Much property said to have been sold by Cunningham was recovered. When informed that much of the property had been recovered, Cunningham said, according to the authorities:

"My wife has tuberculosis. Until recently I received but $40 a month for driving a mail wagon. The salary is now $45. This is not enough for the needs of a family whose members are in the best of health." Cunningham, who was employed as a driver carrying mails to and from the local postoffice, was arrested yesterday and held on a charge of theft.

Atmosphere is a term used by artistically inclined people to express an indispensable something necessary for the proper development of temperamental studies. Painters, writers, players travel far to get this needed inspiration.

Atmosphere is of equal importance to business and social expansion and it is constantly available over the telephone at your elbow.

If there be an important deal on, a decision to be made or a meeting arranged for, create the atmosphere over the telephone by a serious, thoughtful, enthusiastic conversation. Study your topic; study your man; study your approach, your argument and your climax. Thus fortified, no matter how far away you are, your atmosphere can be transmitted over

SUBMARINES

WILL TAKE THE PLACES OF DREADNAUGHTS IN NAVIES OF THE WORLD.

England and France Will Never Build Another, Says Prominent Shipbuilder.

London, Dec. 15. (Associated Press Correspondence.)—England probably never will lay down another dreadnaught says one of the foremost ship builders in this country who for obvious reasons, cannot be quoted. All the dreadnaughts according to this authority, which have been laid down will be rushed to completion, but no orders will be given for any more vessels of this type. This policy was under a serious consideration when the Audacious went to the bottom and the recent loss of the Bulwark has only served to confirm the opinion that the battle-ship as a fighting craft is doomed.

All new construction in the British ship yards consist of heavily armed cruisers of great coal carrying capacity, destroyers and submarines. For ten miles along the Tyne in coming into Newcastle the passengers on the boat cannot hear each other speak because of the din of steam hammers, most of which are making destroyers and submarines.

When Sir Percy Scott expressed his doubts of the efficiency of the dreadnaught just after England had placed her seal on it as the premier fighting unit of naval warfare, his unorthodoxy made him the strategic heretic of his time, but this war has come near to vindicating his theory, for thus far not a single success can be placed to the credit of a dreadnaught while the experimental, almost despised, submarine has won most of the naval laurels.

France is also reported as hurrying the construction of submarines while Russia is said to have asked for tenders on a submarine of two thousand tons.

MILD WEATHER IS HELPING FISHERIES OF NEWFOUNDLAND

(Associated Press Telegram)
Curling, N. F., Dec. 30.—The comparatively mild weather this month has been favorable to the herring fisheries of the west coast of Newfoundland, and already about ten million pounds has been shipped from Bay of Islands. A number of American vessels are still in the bay awaiting cargoes.

Drift ice, coming down the coast, has forced half a dozen American schooners to leave Bonne Bay and sail for Bay of Islands. At Bonne Bay there are 1,020,000 pounds of cod awaiting shipment.

MORE AMERICANS LEAVE FOR SERVICE IN WAR HOSPITALS

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Dec. 30.—Dr. George C. Crile, professor of clinical surgery in Western Reserve University, Cleveland, and a staff of eleven nurses and assistants, sailed on the Lusitania today to join the American ambulance corps in Paris.

Dr. Crile's researches relative to prevention of brain shock by surgical operations gained him world-wide notice, and his method of application of both local and general anesthetics is credited with saving hundreds of lives.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

A well known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effective, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Cold Wave Predicted.

Pedestrians found the walks and streets in much better shape today than yesterday when the icy condition of them caused many people who ventured out to take a tumble, a number receiving severe bumps. Much of the ice melted but there is a sufficient amount remaining to cause people to be careful. The middle of the street is still a favorable promenade place. TOLEDO MEN
REMOVED ARE AFTER MAYOR

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Columbus, Dec. 30.—Accompanied by City Solicitor Thurston, Geo. Kapp, deposed as safety director of Toledo by Mayor Keller of that city, came to Columbus today to endeavor to persuade Governor Cox to remove Keller from office for alleged violation of the civil service law. The order for the removal of Kapp does not become effective until Jan. 1, and he and Thurston hope to circumvent it by securing the removal of the mayor before that date. They were in conference with Secretary of State Graves with reference to the proper method to pursue against the mayor before the governor. It is probable that they will file affidavits with the governor embodying charges against the mayor as a basis for his removal.

Cornelius Sullivan, removed from the Toledo street cleaning department, today lodged another complaint against Mayor Keller, alleging that the mayor was taking no steps to punish the heads of departments whom he asserted were guilty with the local civil service commission in violating the civil service law. He wants the governor to remove the mayor.

The governor is not saying anything about the Toledo situation because of the fact that thus far it has not been presented to him in the prescribed legal way.

Two Bridges
Collapse In Hamilton Co.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Cincinnati, Dec. 30.—With a crash that was heard for a mile, the East Span of the Union Levee, between Linwood, Ohio, and Mount Washington, Ohio, which is under construction collapsed early today. The span which measured 250 feet and carried no superstructure, was held in position by false work, which was fast embedded in the heavy ice that covered the little Miami river at that point. The ice suddenly gave way, carrying the superstructure with it, with the result that, freed of this support, the immense span fell into the river. It is in such a position that it can be retrieved. The loss is estimated at about $4,000.

The hoisting engine used in the work also went down in the collapse. County Engineer Cowan was notified later that the bridge being constructed across the Little Miami river at Remington, Ohio had also been swept away when the ice broke. It was reported that the loss at Remington would be a total one. The bridge which was almost completed was to have cost $18,000.

VETERAN LEGION
OBJECTS TO NAME
ON MEMORIAL HALL

The following resolutions were adopted at a regular meeting of U. V. L. Camp No. 31, at Newark, O., Dec. 27, 1914:

Whereas, The taxpayers of Newark township built or caused to be built, a building in the city of Newark, known and named Memorial building.

And Whereas, Said building was dedicated to the memory of the living and dead soldiers, sailors and marines of the war of 1861 to 1865, commonly known as the Civil War.

And Whereas, Said building was placed (and is yet) under the care and control of a board of seven trustees, appointed and qualified by the judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Licking county, state of Ohio.

And Whereas, Said board of trustees has permitted the erection of an electric sign in front of and attached to said building, changing the name of said building from Memorial to Victoria with British crown thereon.

And Whereas, Said sign with name of Victoria and British crown thereon is unbecomingly distasteful and not in accordance with the patriotic feelings of the ex-soldiers and loyal citizens of the city of Newark and of Newark township.

Resolved, That we, loyal citizens of the city of Newark and of Newark township, and members of the Union Veteran Legion Encampment No. 31, respectfully ask and earnestly request of the said board of trustees of said building that they have the name Victoria and the British crown removed from said sign, or remove sign entire, as we think it an unbecoming emblem on a free American institution and very unbecoming an American soldiers' monument.

PETITION TO ENFRANCHISE
2000 VOTERS

IN ADAMS COUNTY WHOSE RIGHTS WERE SUSPENDED FOR VOTE SELLING.

Governor Cox Urged to Grant Request as Those Convicted Did Not Realize Crime.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Columbus, Dec. 30.—Governor Cox was asked today to restore franchise rights to the 2000 Adams county voters who were disfranchised early in 1911 for a period of five years by Judge A. Z. Blair, after they had been found guilty of vote-selling.

The request was made by a petition signed by thirteen prominent citizens of the county, including A. G. Turnipseed, T. C. Crawford, tax commissioner, and J. H. Connor, postmaster of West Union. The governor was asked to restore full rights to the men as a New Year's gift.

The men disfranchised did not understand wholly the enormity of their crime and many pleaded guilty though they actually were not guilty, the petition asserted. Those who were guilty have been punished sufficiently, it stated.

"Such an act on your part as governor will receive the unanimous endorsement of every good citizen of Adams county who desires the reform of erring men, and we fully believe a New Year's pardon of these unfortunate men will give to nearly 2000 men a new inspiration for better ideals," said the petition.

The petitioners assert others guilty of vote-selling were unpunished. If a pardon is not given the men cannot vote until 1916.

GEN'L TREASURER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Augustine Sissea, one of the leaders of the local Roumanian colony, returned Wednesday after spending a week in New Castle, Pa., as delegate from the Newark branch of the Roumanian Benevolent Union of the United States. At the session of the convention, Mr. Sissea was for the eighth time elected general treasurer of the national body. A change in the constitution was made at the New Castle meeting fixing the time of the annual meeting from December to May. The members found that the severe weather of December had its effect on the attendance and therefore the annual conventions will be held in May in the future. The next meeting will be held in May, 1916, in New York City.

Pay Pike Assessments.

The county commissioners were in regular weekly session Wednesday allowing bills and looking after any business that might come before the board.

Commissioners Ben B. Jones, Jos. E. Orr and Frank R. Dumm, have had a strenuous fall looking after bridge and pike work. Wednesday morning when they met in their office they were feeling very good on account of the excellent returns received from the notices they sent out to property owners having land abutting on the pike improvements, requesting those land owners to call and pay their pike assessments.

The commissioners state that there is scarcely any dissatisfaction with the assessments and that they are all being paid with promptness.

File Demurrer.

In the case of John A. Davis vs. the Ohio Light & Power Co., the defendant has filed a demurrer to the petition of the plaintiff for the reason, the demurrer states, that the same does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action or entitle the plaintiff to the relief therein prayed for.

Case Dismissed.

In the case of Alta Martin vs. Elmer E. Martin, in which the plaintiff filed a divorce suit against the defendant and the latter filed an answer and cross petition, Judge Robbins Hunter after hearing the evidence dismissed the case and awarded the custody of a little child to the mother, also allowing her $10 per month for its support. The father was granted the privilege of calling on the child every two weeks.

SOCIALISTS

OF THREE CITIES WILL CARE FOR CHILDREN IF MINERS ARE EVICTED

In the Eastern Ohio Coal Fields. Five Thousand Children Under 12 Years of Age Affected.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 30.—Socialist leaders here today declared that if the striking miners in the eastern Ohio coal field were evicted from the company houses they would occupy the houses that take care of all children under 12 years who may be affected. The thousands of children, it was stated at Socialist headquarters, would be distributed among the families in the cities of Wheeling, Steubenville and Parkersburg, and if homes for a greater number are needed an appeal will be made to the national Socialist organization. Long lists of children's names have already been prepared and efforts are being continued to complete the census.

APPEAL MADE FOR WEARING APPAREL NEEDED IN FRANCE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Washington, Dec. 30.—Appeals for serviceable wearing apparel, both for destitute non-combatants and sick and wounded soldiers, continue to reach the headquarters of the American Red Cross here. Two cablegrams received today from Paris point out that wearing apparel is needed in France. The American relief clearing house in the French capital advises that clothing for women, children and babies is especially needed as also are overcoats for men. The French Red Cross says that their greatest need at present is not surgical supplies, but hospital garments, such as pajamas, shirts, convalescent robes and crocheted socks and linen.

Fredericks, district attorney, with which to leave the country, according to a statement made public today by Fredericks. Editor Advocate:—I note that the Newark Board of Trade is in one of its many campaigns for members. This is not the case in other cities. Once a member always a member unless something serious occurs. Let me suggest a plan I have seen a success in other cities: Two organizations, a Board of Trade (small) and a Chamber of Commerce (any one will do, think a business men's organization is preferable.) The first is peculiarly to hunt up new business the other to assist in landing it. I could suggest 12 or 15 men in Newark that would do more and better work than 500. What is everybody's business is nobody's, you know, and every man that owns a foot of property is a business man. When the writer was your Secretary he was told many times, "Let the business men do it. Newark has done well along this line, not many cities can beat our growth and all, or nearly so, from the work of the Board of Trade. A few years ago we were a 15,000 town now 30,000. What doubled our population? Employment for men. The American Bottle Company, The Wehrle Co., The Newark Car Co., The Shoe Co., The Hertz Co., and others, all of which the Board of Trade had a hand in. As you know any town that has done better, if an industry will consent to move you can water that it has not been making money, and we cannot afford to go into partnership with any concern and furnish all the capital. Sorry I could not go to the meeting Tuesday night.

Very truly,

AUSTRIA ADMITS RETREAT IN AN OFFICIAL NOTE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Vienna, by Wireless to London, Dec. 30.—An official communication given out by the staff headquarters admits a retreat by the Austrians in Galicia. The statement follows:
"The old Russian army, which about a week ago commenced an offensive against those of our forces which had crossed the Carpathians has been reinforced with supplementary troops and fresh divisions in such a manner that it is necessary for us to withdraw our troops along the entire eastern front and in the plain of Gorlice just north of the Carpathians, and to the east of Nowy Sander. The situation in the north has not been influenced thereby."
"In the Balkan theatre the Montenegrins showed great but unsuccessful efforts. The Montenegrin artillery had no effect on the strong fortress of Krievosije."

GRATITUDE URGES HER TO SPEAK OUT

Newark Woman Wants Public to Know What Nerv-Worth Did for Her Health.

"I have been suffering for three weeks with nervousness and sick stomach. Could not keep any kind of medicine in my stomach, as it was so weak. I could not sleep night nor day, and was continually in and out of the bed through the night. I also had several aches in my back and arms and had to be rubbed constantly. After taking Nerv-Worth I have been greatly benefited and feel as though I should tell the public how it has benefited me. I heartily recommend Nerv-Worth to anyone affected with stomach trouble or nervousness."
In these words a Newark woman, Mrs. Frank Holtschulte, describes Nerv-Worth's success in banishing her very distressing and harmful nervous disorders. If the reader suffers likewise, Druggist T. J. Evans will sell him or her a bottle of Nerv-Worth and refund the money if it fails to help. $1.00 a bottle.

EARTH WAS CREATED 100,000,000 YEARS AGO, SAYS GEOLOGIST

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—That the earth is about one hundred million years old, is one of the deductions of George F. Becker of the United States geological survey, presented in a paper read last night at a meeting of the geological society of America, which is meeting here in connection with the annual convention of the American Association for the advancement of science. Radial activity is confined to a relatively thin zone in the upper crust of the earth, he declared.

COMMISSION HAS DECIDED AGAINST RAILROADS' CLAIMS

Washington, Dec. 30.—The interstate commerce commission today declined to approve a proposal of the western railroads to increase the minimum weight of shipments of fresh meats, packing house products and other food commodities in peddler cases from 10,000 to 12,000 pounds. The establishment of the higher minimum weight would have resulted in a material increase in transportation charges, which, under the conditions of such shipments, the commission held would be unreasonable. The roads were ordered to cancel the regulation increasing the weight.
